

SEPTEMBER BEGINS A NEW AAUW SEASON!

Hello Members,

We have a great slate of events coming up in the fall, so please be sure to renew your membership promptly by using the info in the Torch or the email you received from National. If you have any changes to your personal information that needs to be included in the directory, please send that to me or Jametta Hunt ASAP, as we are working on that now.

In our programs for this new season, we have some very special events. We'll be going to Player's Circle Theater for a private show in December (make your reservations – it's filling up fast!), and we'll will be hosting Interpreter Sheryl Faye as Abigail Adams in January.

Even as our monthly meetings paused for the summer, many of our small groups continue through September. Details about small group activities are in your directory and the Torch.

We will resume our meetings October with Mindi Simon from Lee County Libraries. In the meantime, we have some upcoming events from Florida and National AAUW listed on page 7 .

Thanks for being a member and supporting AAUW,
Lisa Crotty, President

Book Recommendations From Our Picnic Participants

A Paris detective uses his skills in three thrilling cases.

French Kiss: Very handsome and charming French detective Luc Moncrief joined the NYPD for a fresh start—but someone wants to make his first big case his last. Welcome to New York.

The Christmas Mystery: In the heart of the holiday season, priceless paintings have vanished from a Park Avenue murder scene. Now, dashing French detective Luc Moncrief must become a quick study in the art of the steal—before a coldblooded killer paints the town red. Merry Christmas, Detective.

French Twist: Gorgeous women are dropping dead at upscale department stores in New York City. Detective Luc Moncrief and Detective Katherine Burke are close to solving the mystery but looks can be deceiving . . .

It was called "The Titanic of the South." The luxury steamship sank in 1838 with Savannah's elite on board; through time, their fates were forgotten—until the wreck was found, and now their story is finally being told in this breathtaking novel by Patti Callahan.

When Savannah history professor Everly Winthrop is asked to guest-curate a new museum collection focusing on artifacts recovered from the steamship Pulaski, she's shocked. The ship sank after a boiler explosion in 1838, and the wreckage was just discovered, 180 years later. Everly can't resist the opportunity to try to solve some of the mysteries and myths surrounding the devastating night of its sinking.

Young playwright Melina Green has just written a new work inspired by the life of her Elizabethan ancestor Emilia Bassano. But seeing it performed is unlikely, in a theater world where the playing field isn't level for women. As Melina wonders if she dares risk failure again, her best friend takes the decision out of her hands and submits the play to a festival under a male pseudonym.

In 1581, young Emilia Bassano is a ward of English aristocrats. Her lessons on languages, history, and writing have endowed her with a sharp wit and a gift for storytelling, but like most women of her day, she is allowed no voice of her own. Forced to become a mistress to the Lord Chamberlain, who oversees all theatre productions in England, Emilia sees firsthand how the words of playwrights can move an audience.

Jesus Wept:

Seven Popes and the Battle for the Soul of the Catholic Church

In Jesus Wept, Philip Shenon takes us inside the Holy See to reveal its intricacies, hypocrisies, and hidden maneuverings, bringing all the momentous disputes and issues vividly to life.

In his rich portrayals of the popes from John to Francis, Shenon draws on research across four continents, including hundreds of interviews and the exhaustive archival material. He also brings to light other key figures in the Church, such as Cardinal Alfredo Ottaviani, the incredibly powerful, conservative, and staunchly anticommunist director of the Holy Office under Pius XII, who lived proudly by the motto semper idem—"always the same." This is a consummate, vibrant history of the modern Church.

More Reading Recommendations

Who works for the government and why does their work matter? An urgent and absorbing civics lesson from an all-star team of writers and storytellers. The government is a vast, complex system that Americans pay for, rebel against, rely upon, dismiss, and celebrate. It's also our shared resource for addressing the biggest problems of society. And it's made up of people, mostly unrecognized and uncelebrated, doing work that can be deeply consequential and beneficial to everyone. Whether they're digitizing archives, chasing down cybercriminals, or discovering new planets, these public servants are committed to their work.

Washington, DC, 1950. Everyone keeps to themselves at Briarwood House, a down-at-the-heels all-female boardinghouse in the heart of the nation's capital where secrets hide behind white picket fences. But when the lovely, mysterious widow Grace March moves into the attic room, she draws her oddball collection of neighbors into unlikely friendship. Grace's weekly attic-room dinner parties and window-brewed sun tea become a healing balm on all their lives, but she hides a terrible secret of her own. When a shocking act of violence tears the house apart, the Briar Club women must decide once and for all: who is the true enemy in their midst?

"The Island of Missing Trees" by Elif Shafak explores the intertwined stories of two generations, a love story, and a fig tree, all set against the backdrop of Cyprus's historical turmoil and its lasting effects. The novel follows Kostas and Defne, a Greek Cypriot and a Turkish Cypriot, whose love story unfolds in a taverna under the watchful eye of a fig tree. Decades later, their daughter Ada, living in London, grapples with her family's past and the secrets surrounding her mother's death. The fig tree, brought to London from Cyprus, serves as a silent witness and a symbolic link to the island's history.

Four famous siblings throw an epic party to celebrate the end of the summer. But over the course of twenty-four hours, the family drama that ensues will change their lives forever.

Malibu: August 1983. It's the day of Nina Riva's annual end-of-summer party, and anticipation is at a fever pitch. Everyone wants to be around the famous Rivas: Nina, the talented surfer and supermodel; brothers Jay and Hud, one a championship surfer, the other a renowned photographer; and their adored baby sister, Kit. Together the siblings are a source of fascination in Malibu and the world over—

Into the Unknown, astrophysicist Kelsey Johnson takes us to the edge of scientific understanding about the universe: What caused the Big Bang? What happens inside black holes? Are there other dimensions? She doesn't just celebrate what we know but rather what we don't and asks what it means if we never find that knowledge. Exploring the convergence of science, philosophy, and theology, Johnson argues we must reckon with possibilities awaiting—including those that may be beyond human comprehension. The very places where we run smack into total ignorance are the places where the most important questions—about the philosophy of knowledge, the nature of our cosmos, and even the existence of God.
